

A little deformation in the flat holes areas is due to the working procedure.
 This situation improves the drain performance.

